

ABSTRACT

An online suite of products and services to facilitate conducting business online includes web content insurance, network security insurance, goods inspection services, cargo insurance, trade credit insurance and services, identity assurance services, and an online process for the sale of such products. The inventive suite of products and services is not only applicable to the Internet, but also to other network environments, such as a LAN or a WAN.